Vision and Law
Machines vs. Words
As the Twig Is Bent
Measuring Star Heat
By Arthur Brisbane

HERBERT HOOVER, your President, promising to obey the Constitution, kissed the Bible with his thumb on this morn'g in Providence. "Where there is no vision the people perish, but he that keepseth the law, happy is he."

Vision, ability to look ahead, use what is needed and do it.

Keeping the law, even if you don't happen to like it, that is a good program.

In his recent inaugural address President Hoover said: "We are building a new civilization great in its own achievements."

How much will Herbert Hoover, as President, add to the country's accomplishments, power and prosperity?

He has the right training. That he will give the people that have elected him everything he can give is certain.

Many will welcome this line from the address, "Peace can be contributed to by respect for our ability in DEFENSE."

Herbert Hoover is an engineer, and knows that work is done by machinery, not by words, loud or soft. He knows that to make this country safe machines are needed in the air, under the water and on the water. And it is safe to predict that he will insist on having them.

"The education that forms the common mind: Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclination."

Vice-President Dawes came to the Senate from banking and from hard work in Europe, and with the habit of living orders. He told senators that he would show them how to run the Senate.

Senator Curtis takes Mr. Dawes' place as Vice-President after serving 20 years as a senator, and tells the Senate that it is no part of a Vice-President's business to make laws or tell senators how to carry on their work.

Young gentlemen of Princeton will be interested in Dr. Lamp-land, just come among them from the Lowell Observatory.

Dr. Lamp-land's specialty is measuring the heat of distant stars.

It requires skill to measure heat coming from a sun billions of miles away, through the ether at a temperature hundreds of degrees below zero. But Dr. Lamp-land does it.

Wires made of different metals, as fine as a baby's hair, increase in heat by a few millionths of a degree as the heat waves from the far away space strikes them.

And Uncle Dr. Lamp-land knows what kind of star, how big, how hot, how powerful, has sent the heat ray.

British business is worried. British labor is cheerful about the coming election. In May, or June at the latest, the British will vote with every boy and girl over 21 allowed to vote for the first time in history, will know exactly what the "clapper vote" will mean to British politics.

Lord Beaverbrook, owner of the London Express with a circulation of 1,500,000, and well informed, believes that the Labor party will win this election and predicts that as a matter of course the King will send for Ramsay MacDonald, who will be prime minister and real head of the British Empire.

Can you imagine an American money man sending for the head of a Labor union and saying: "You and the unions take charge of everything?"

What shivering that would cause!

It frightens Britishers the first time, but will not make them shiver this time. A man outside of office talking in different from a man in office carrying responsibility.

"What man, now living, do you most admire?"

Among men of Yale University asked that question were evenly divided in their answers. Between "my father" and "Col Charles A. Lindbergh."

Happy the man who has in his father one to be revered all through life. "You know what to think or how to feel after the insurance."

Some stocks were off. High finance in London wants to know whether "Mr. Hoover will hit at United States speculation."

GOODWIN TELLS OF DANGERS IN LOBBY

By FRANK A. GOODWIN
Former Registrar of the Motor Vehicle and Author of the Goodwin-Boston Evening American Automobile Insurance Bill

At the recent legislative hearings at which the Goodwin-Boston Evening American State Fund Insurance bill was discussed, Martin Hays, representative from Brighton, said that in all his experience on Beacon Hill, covering some 17 years, he had never seen so many banded with such propaganda as had lately been heaped upon him by insurance companies' agents.

As was further stated, there was so much similarity in the letters and literature which he received that he suspected that it emanated from one source. Since the hearings, this propaganda has increased because the insurance people have realized that the arguments in favor of a State Fund, are so overwhelming that something must be done to storn the tide.

And then again, there is another consideration to which representatives and senators should give their attention. Out of the 67 companies doing this compulsory insurance, 54 are foreign companies and only 13 are Massachusetts companies. Recently the life insurance interests made a drive in the legislature to kill the rapidly growing state savings bank life insurance business, and the banks doing that business placed in the newspapers a large advertisement which contained this paragraph:

"These agents of foreign companies apparently assume that the people have forgotten the shocking exposure, made 21 years ago during the life insurance scandal, of the wasteful extravagance and gross inefficiency of management of insurance companies."

"They also apparently overlook the fact that the public records disclose the receipt by them from the people of Massachusetts during the single year of 1927 the huge sum of $16,000,000 as commissions on life insurance written in this state."

"The savings bank, operates with out paid solicitors, and this is the reason why the agents are opposed to the savings bank insurance service."

"This statement was made by responsible people. It was published under the signature of representatives of nine savings banks."

"The greatest opposition to our state fund bill comes from the foreign companies who will this year take in commissions of approximately the enormous sum of $16,000,000."

owners to buy a service, it should give that service at cost. Car owners, get busy! Department managers and agents of foreign companies are lobbying your representatives.

If you want service at cost, there is only one way to get it. That is through a State Fund.

Americans Arrive for Papal Jubilee

Vatican City, March 5 (AP)—With the arrival of Cardinal Ruffini, archbishop of Quebec, Monsignor Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, apostolic delegate to the United States, Paulist Fr. John J. Burke, general secretary of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, and Prof. Gilmary of the Catholic University, Washington, American participation in the events of the jubilee year may be said to have really begun. Pope Pius already has received Fr. John J. Burke, rector of the Seminary of Canada. While others will be received shortly.

FEAR WIFE OF PASTOR IS SUICIDE

Woodville, N. H., March 5—Gertrude E. Smith, 38, wife of the Rev. Albert L. Smith, pastor of the Methodist Church of Woodville, is mysteriously missing from her home and police, firemen and a posse of citizens headed by Sheriff Arthur B. Davis are scouring near by woodlands in the belief that she wandered there.

She left home yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock on an errand to the drug store. When she failed to return in reasonable time she was traced to different points in the village and later to a road paralleling the Connecticut river.

Opinion that she is temporarily deranged was expressed by her husband and the police. Authorities are contemplating dragging a section of the river on the theory that she may have ended her life.

ITALY GIVES UP CONFIRMATION OF BISHOPS

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL,
International News Correspondent.
Vatican City, March 5.—The concordat between the Catholic church and Italy, published here today, gives the Holy See supreme authority on all ecclesiastical matters without any interference by the state.

The recognition of this authority was one of the outstanding features of this historic document. Italy thus renounces the right hitherto enjoyed of confirming or refusing the nomination of Catholic bishops. This right, although never exercised in practice, afforded Italy the privilege of granting royal assent or "assessor" to the papal nominees.

AMBASSIES TARIFF
In future, goods shipped to the Vatican will be admitted duty free. The Italian government stipulated that it would charge no customs upon such consignments.

All embassies and legations accredited to the Vatican will remain upon Italian soil. Even countries having diplomatic relations with the Vatican but none with Italy, will house their envoys upon Italian soil, not church territory.

Another diplomatic success achieved by the Vatican through this treaty is that parish priests in the future may act as registrars of marriages. Previously in Italy no marriage was deemed valid in the eyes of the law unless performed by the civil authorities.

Another important stipulation is that priests may become school teachers and professors in public schools on condition they pass the required examination and are permitted by the church to teach.

STATE RELIGION
The agreement makes Catholicism the absolute state religion in Italy.

The catacombs and the sanctuaries at Loreto, Assisi and Padua will be recognized as Vatican property.

When a priest is censured by ecclesiastical authorities, he cannot hold any paid state offices. This clause will eliminate from his university chair the famous excommunicated priest, Ernesto Rossi, who was dropped from the church because of his modernistic views.

When the church unfrockes a priest the state in future must see that he ceases wearing his ecclesiastical garb.

Former Mrs. Dodge Hails New Divorce

Detroit, March 4 (INS).—Lois Knowlton Dodge Manning, wife of Ernest Benjamin F. Manning and former wife of Horace Dodge, Jr., smiled and smiled here today over reports from San Francisco that Manning desires a divorce because he "found her money intolerable."

She smiled again at the suggestion that she might be already contemplating a third marriage. "Not just now, anyway," she said.

Mrs. Manning was discovered at the house she has rented here. With her were several friends, among them Lord Edward Mountague, youngest son of the Duke of Manchester, in America on a pleasure trip.

Five Russians Held for Illegal Entry

Buffalo, N. Y., March 5.—Three Russian aliens were to be arraigned today before a United States commissioner charged respectively with smuggling and entering the country illegally. The men were taken from a train here which was en route to New York from Niagara Falls after the suspicions of the conductor had been aroused by the shabby appearance of the aliens. The police believe the men were smuggled over the border at Niagara Falls and taken on the train to the American side.

Root and Briand in Law Conference

Geneva, March 5 (AP).—Elihu Root, noted American jurist who is serving on a special committee for revision of the World Court statutes, conferred with Foreign Minister Briand of France today concerning a formula which Mr. Root has prepared as the basis of an agreement for American admission to the World Court.

THE CRUELTEST TEST A SKIN CAN MEET

Under the glare of the huge new incandescent "sun-spot" lights, only the most flawless skin can stand the test of the close-up. JOAN CRAWFORD, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star, faces it confidently. She says: "Exquisite smooth skin is the all-important asset for the star who must face into the glaring lights of the close-up. Never have I had anything like Lux Toilet Soap for keeping my skin fresh and smooth."

CLARA BOW, popular Paramount star, in the luxurious bathroom—one of the finest built in Hollywood—which sets off so well her vivacious charm.

"A beautifully smooth skin means even more to a star than to other women. Lux Toilet Soap is a great help in keeping the skin in perfect condition."

Clara Bow

"Smooth, lovely skin is the most appealing charm a girl can have," say 39 leading Hollywood Directors

IT ATTRACTS you instantly whenever you see it—a skin that is exquisitely smooth and lovely.

In Hollywood, where loveliness and magnetism mean success, they know this. "I don't know a single case where a girl without beautiful skin has been able to win enough popularity to become a star," says William Beaudine, Fox director, voicing the experience of the directors.

"Exquisitely lovely skin is the greatest asset a star can have," Mary Astor explains. "Without it you cannot photograph successfully in a close-up." For with the new incandescent "sun-spot" lights pouring down on face and arms and shoulders, little make-up can be used.

Mary Astor keeps her ivory smooth skin always lovely with Lux Toilet Soap—it is made by the famous French method. In fact, 9 out of 10 screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap.

Notice the exquisite texture of Joan Crawford's skin the next time you see her, or May McAvoy's, Doris Kenyon's, or Phyllis Haver's. Of the 451 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars, 442 use this soap.

All the great film studios have made it the official soap in their dressing rooms. Beauty is important in Hollywood.

Caressing, instant lather even in hard water! Start using this fragrant white soap today—a lovely, fine skin plays such a big part in feminine charm.

MARION DAVIES, whose clear beauty has endeared her to an enormous public, says: "Deliciously smooth skin is a great asset to a star. I am delighted with Lux Toilet Soap."

BEBE DANIELS, enchanting Paramount star, says: "The girl with smooth skin need not fear the close-up. Lux Toilet Soap is a great help in keeping the skin smooth and lovely."

Club Work Gives Juniors Character

NEARLY 200,000 young girl members of 12,000 women's clubs in the United States are responsible for the new country-wide move to curb extravagance among girls, in the opinion of Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, Jr., State Federation chairman of junior membership. She spoke before the East Weymouth Monday Club.

"When girls raise the money for their own good times, as they do when combining their club activities with social life, you will be surprised to find how much simpler entertainment they are content with than when you provide it—no matter how expensive your party is," she said.

"They forget what you have done in a single day, but the pleasure derived from their own efforts in getting up affairs to benefit some worthy community project remains with them for character building and training for good citizenship.

"Some girls prefer the outdoor life of the Girl Scouts, some like Campfire activities, while others covet the poise and self-confidence which parliamentary training in a woman's club gives.

DO VALUABLE WORK
"No matter what the girls choose, the coming together in the work is of immense value to her," Mrs. Bennett continued. "It teaches dependability, unselfish cooperation for the common good and how to play her part in the life of the community."

"The work that juniors are doing is of great value too, like your juniors working for the hospital here, others providing recreation for nurses, giving clubs, sewing, or charity, helping disabled veterans, and even adopting a crippled child, in one club. No matter what they do, help and encourage them to work together harmoniously."

It was Junior Day at the club and 200 members and visiting juniors from the Old Colony Club were entertained with two plays by juniors.

CLERGY ACTING
"How Your Aunt Anne" was cleverly put on by Laura Nash, Virginia Hodges, Barbara Libbey, Alice Lebosiero, Sue Harper, Dorothy Pearson and Ruth Nolan.

They were coached by Miss Muriel Gladwin, dramatic chairman, and assisted by the junior advisor, Mrs. Albert L. Jewell. Dorothy Alden, Dorothy Abbott, Louise Bailey and Eleanor Pearson contributed a comedy skit, "Tickets Please," very creditably.

Roberta Smith and Barbara Libbey gave violin and piano selections.

VINCENT CLUB GIRLS BUSY WITH SHOW REHEARSALS BETTY ALDEN

Miss Helen Mosely, in charge of the Publicity of the Society Theatricals, Is Working Energetically for Affairs Success

SINGLY and BY TWOS, IN TRIOS and SEXTETS, THEY DRIFT into the Hotel Somerset these days, all the feminine darlings of the Smart World who move within the socially sanctified aura of the Vincent Club. The annual "Show" is in the throes of early composition and rehearsals are the unending Tuesday and Thursday regularity for every girl whose fashionable fortunes are linked with this most exclusive organization of the town's younger females. As smart as a next year's novel and all alert to turn the trick and be a principal or a specialty, they flock eager-eyed to the tryouts.

GIRLS WITH BEAUTIFULLY TRAINED VOICES WILL PUT forth their trilliest trills. Debutantes with an agility in the dance almost professional hope to do a turn. Buds will summon the poise of a Starlet beauty and be chosen as a superlatively successful model. Miss Helen Mosely this season presides over that portion of Vincent Club show activities that may be made known to a waiting world via the publicity. Mrs. Chaney Nash is the club's energetic president. And the show will have a star in this and that are Mrs. Charles Coddie and Mrs. Henry Shaw Rogers.

NO ONE BUT A SUPER-ENTHUSIASTIC HORSEMAN OF THE Samuel J. Shaw type would cross the continent and travel thousands of miles mainly to see two horse shows, however fine they be. Mr. Shaw has been doing exactly that, however, and now is filled with a bubbling enthusiasm for equine exhibitions as the Par Waterasters do them. The San Francisco show held the boards for an entire week, boomed over by unflagging interest, and magnificent specimens of horseflesh were in the lists. Los Angeles likewise staged a show that brought delight to Mr. Shaw's heart. And what delight him was more the reciprocal enthusiasm central Westerners have for Boston's coming horse show.

OF COURSE, THERE IS A "PERHAPS" IN THE STATEMENT. But some of the Western owners of famous winning horses may ship their precious four-footed possessions to the Atlantic seaboard next autumn and compete in the show planned for the Boston Garden. Western dash is equal to that of effort. And when one owns a "Long View Child" and five or six ribbons without count, it is not surprising how much he is willing to do to see the show. Mrs. Shaw, a prime in the effort, brings some from California and has been in San Francisco and Los Angeles as to how best to enormous a show should be staged. His horse and wife, however, has had to do with the wonders of nature this vast and magnificent country reveals to those who delight in seeing America—as Mr. Shaw undoubtedly does.

LATE OCTOBER DATES AT THE GARDEN ALREADY ARE taken and prospects are rose tinted for an enormous show, with the pick of the country's horseflesh in view. Mr. Shaw, a prime in the effort, brings some from California and has been in San Francisco and Los Angeles as to how best to enormous a show should be staged. His horse and wife, however, has had to do with the wonders of nature this vast and magnificent country reveals to those who delight in seeing America—as Mr. Shaw undoubtedly does.

BEFORE LONG BEFORE OCTOBER UNROLLS ITS THIRTY-ONE DAYS as the calendar October races meet and horseflesh will suggest selection. The Country Club's two days on June 15 and 17 they have announced. John R. Macomber's meet at Haverhill on June 13. The Newport Horse Show is an August event for the horse and, and then there come Springfield and Worcester to be visited during September, say nothing of the Brockton election, with its hundreds of entries and crowds of horsemen. Just how the Big Show the occasion presided over by Henry Goodwin Vaughan and run under Norfolk's colors occurs, on October 12, the yearly meet that so delights society.

TRUST MISS EDITH SQUIREY TO BE WHERE TENNIS courts are perfect and play is brisk. Miss Squirey, adept with the racket, finds perfection in Bermuda courts and the latest of competition among players for the Bermuda amateur championship. The Squirey family circle in the summer includes Miss Katherine Squirey, Mrs. Henry Squirey, mother, and the former Miss Mary Squirey, now Mrs. Rochford V. Lovehoad, spouse to Commander Lovehoad of the royal navy.

DEBUTANTES GO IN FOR VARIOUS PURSUITS UNTIL THE frivolous young begins to sell. But very few go to the air and become proficient at the controls of an airplane as has Miss Olivia Mathews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Mathews of Dedham. Of her year, the present brilliant 1924 season just having its curtain rung, Miss Mathews is the sole first aviator. Every day and all day she may be found at the airport, logged out in the regulation regalia of the flying-jacket, goggles, helmet and long boots. Her proficiency that "dols" but does not entirely subdue her charming femininity.

TO FLY "SIMO" IS THE DELIGHT OF THIS MODERNISTIC young feminine creature—who did the properly accepted thing in the way of continental parties, along with Miss Eleanor Edson. Recent parents of the two buds gave a lively tea and dance for them at the Dedham Country and Polo Club early in the season, a jolly affair each as Mr. and Mrs. Mathews invariably stage for their younglings. Miss Olivia is third in the series of daughters to make her bow—she was preceded in the arena by Miss Mary Mathews, pretty blonde, and now Mrs. J. Howard Lewis, equally lovely. Miss Mathews, a young thing of dark tresses and inordinate energy, an energy that recently found a vent in the field of business.

A WELCOME WITHOUT PARALLEL AWAITS PHILIP L. BALTON. STILL as that ornamental number of the smart set arrives in town from London. And whether his stay be long or short, confers who delight to do him honor will do so that everything is a joy. Recent plans of Mr. and Mrs. Balton took them to London and away from their smart set intimates here. Mrs. Balton was Miss Kathryn Lapham, a young matron sure to be perfectly at home in London's Mayfair and its international circle of important hostesses.

GOLD STAR BILL IS SIGNED BY COOLIDGE

Washington, March 3.—One of the last official acts of Calvin Coolidge before relinquishing the presidency to Herbert Hoover was to sign the so-called Gold Star Mothers' bill.

Under this law the mothers and unmarried widows of soldiers now interred in the cemeteries of Europe will be taken to the graves of their loved ones at the government's expense.

The pilgrimages are to be made between May 1, 1925, and October 31, 1925, with the Secretary of War in charge of all arrangements for the comfort and safe conduct overseas and back. They will include two weeks' stay.

The measure was among 46 of a naval dispatch base on the Pacific coast to house one of the new individuals were approved at the bill before noon.

Ten, including the Civil Service Retirement bill, and a measure to establish a national bank in Arkansas, were left unacted—and thus vetoed.

Mr. Coolidge signed the bill, extending the life of the Federal Reserve Commission to December 31, 1925. Otherwise the commission would have expired on March 3.

Other measures signed were: a resolution authorizing a national negro memorial in Washington to depict the achievements of Negroes.

CIVIC BODIES HONOR MEMORY OF ATTACKS

All-day exercises in observation of the 10th anniversary of Crispus Attucks' martyrdom when he, with his companions, gave first their lives in the struggle for American independence, were held today.

They were under the auspices of the Boston Branch, National Bazaar Rights League, with several other organizations assisting.

The day's exercises were opened at 10:30 in State st. on the spot where Attucks fell. Those were conducted by Robert A. Bell Post, G. A. R. Women's Relief Corps and the William H. Carney Post, Sons of Veterans.

Other exercises were conducted at 11:30 in the Granary Burying Ground, at noon on Boston Common at the Declaration of Independence table, and at 12:30 in front of the Crispus Attucks statue on the Common.

Tonight at 8 o'clock formal memorial exercises will be held in the Charles St. A. M. E. Church.

new YEAST and IRON. Your own druggist guarantees results—or pay nothing

It seems incredible how fast Ironed Yeast adds pounds of good firm flesh—on women and men, children and old people. Doctors know the value of vegetable iron and yeast in building up and improving the body. Ironed Yeast is a highly concentrated food that contains the blood building properties of vegetable iron with yeast. It will give results in half the time required by yeast and iron taken separately.

People ask—what is in Ironized Yeast that so quickly transforms faded, wrinkled, lined skin into the fresh, smooth, lovely skin of early girlhood. Wrinkles disappear. Hollows fill out. No wonder thousands of people write praising the marvelous youthifying effects of Ironized Yeast.

So don't go around—skinny, tired and sallow-looking when Ironized Yeast will build you up and bring lovely, fresh color so quickly. Safe for all ages—no irritating taste! Do not miss the story on the next page.

Go to any drug store today and get a full sized treatment. If after this generous trial, you are not delighted Ed-your money back immediately.

THOUSANDS ENTER GIRL QUEST

The great Quest of the Typical American Girl took a great stride forward in the interest of New Englanders today. Not only in this section, but all over the country, many thousands studied the rules and made ready to propose names for the Quest.

This Quest lasts through this month, the closing date being March 31.

On this, the fifth day, interest, as evidenced by the letters and nominations was profound. The Nation has taken the idea to its heart, and the final selection is certain to be attended by enthusiastic celebration of millions.

The girl who is selected will receive the $5000 award made by Smart Set Magazine and will be acclaimed the Typical American Girl, a wonderful honor in itself.

NOMINATE NOW

A candidate cannot propose herself in this quest.

Not only may individual readers of the Boston Evening American make their nominations for this highest honor that may be bestowed on an American girl in a decade, but social and other organizations may nominate candidates for the honor. Also high school societies, college societies, business girls organizations, women's clubs—all are invited to participate in this most interesting quest of this generation.

Send in to the Typical American Girl Editor of this newspaper, a photograph and full description of the girl you wish to nominate for the honor of being selected in this region as the Typical American Girl.

Each proposal must be accompanied not only by the girl's photograph, but a biographical sketch giving her age, weight, height, coloring (whether she is blonde, brunette, etc.) and her social, business and athletic activities.

This is a selective search and not a motion picture, popularity, or beauty contest. It is an effort on the part of Smart Set Magazine and the 17 co-operating newspapers to find the girl who best represents the Typical American Girl.

$5000 AWARDED

The girl who is chosen by the Boston Evening American as the Typical American Girl of this section will be sent to New York city under proper chaperonage and with all expenses paid as the guest of Smart Set Magazine.

There, with the 16 other regional winners, she will be the guest of the magazine for a week.

While the 17 regional winners are in New York the national committee selected by Smart Set Magazine will choose the Typical American Girl from among them and will award her $5000.

But that is not all. Guy Hoff, the famous artist, who does the covers for Smart Set Magazine, will paint the portrait of the winner for possible use on one of the summer covers of the magazine.

After he has finished that job he will paint the portraits of five of the remaining 16 girls.

26 Face Death on Bleak Ice Island

Barab, Jugoslavia, March 5 (AP)—Isolated by ice from the mainland and apparently forgotten by the outside world, 26 inhabitants of the tiny island of Rava, between the Pruth and Krug rivers, are in danger of death from starvation and rigorous weather.

For nearly a month their only food has been roots and herbs. Several of the older inhabitants are already dead from starvation. A woman of 78 went mad from hunger and a young mother with a two-day-old babe died from cold.

Plumbers in Art Show

New York, March 5 (AP)—Anybody with $5 can have two pictures hung at the annual exhibition of the Society of Independent Artists. Some 650 plumbers, vegetarians, cubists and more artists have sent double that number of paintings of shoes, cocktail shakers and what not to the Waldorf.

Charles H. Reinhart Is Taken by Death

Charles H. Reinhart, 61, of 4109 Washington st., Roslindale, former member of the House and the City Council from old Ward 9 in the South End, died today at the Mattapan hospital after a brief illness.

The last time the old-line politician was out in public was when he risked his health to attend the funeral of "Smiling Jim" Donovan, former city clerk.

Funeral services will be Thursday with a solemn high mass of requiem sung at 9 a. m. in the Cathedral of the Holy Cross. Burial will be in Mt. Benedict cemetery, West Roxbury.

South Boston Yacht Club Starts Drive

An open membership drive will be started tomorrow night by the South Boston Yacht Club. The drive will open at 8 p. m. when the annual March meeting of the club will be called to order by Commodore Charles McKeegan.

A program of entertainment and a luncheon in the Dutch room of the clubhouse under the direction of Frank Manning, chairman of the house committee, will be the feature of the evening.

"To stay slender — reach for a Lucky a most effective way of retaining a trim figure."

Billie Burke

Miss Billie Burke, Popular American Actress and Star of the Stage.

"To stay slender reach for a Lucky Strike instead of a sweet when your sweet-tooth tempts you. I have practised this for years and find it a most effective way of retaining a trim figure. There is something to the toasting process which develops a flavor in Luckies that completely satisfies the desire for sweets. At the same time, toasting takes out the irritants and Luckies never affect the voice."

BILLIE BURKE

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This confirms in no uncertain terms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

The Mystery

Six-Day Novel by a Famous Author

CHAPTER 2

VAN ANTWERP catching up with Kenneth Carlisle as the latter leaned over the hotel register called out a greeting.

The ex-screen star turned and found a man he had known in college. "Why it's Van Antwerp," he cried, cordially extending his hand, "this is fortunate—so glad you're here."

They chatted for a few moments and then Van Antwerp made bold to ask the question that was puzzling him. "Forgive me, but you haven't come here by any chance in connection with the Abercrombie case?"

The other nodded. "Yes, I don't mind telling you, but I don't want to discuss the matter here—I was through bowing that I was in the hotel, I'm going up to my room now, to talk to him—I'll phone in a little while—will you come up?"

Van Antwerp nodded and watched his old friend go with a smile. Downing must have thought there was a real mystery to call Carlisle's attention. Half an hour later he returned Carlisle's room, in response to the latter's phone call.

Downing was evidently glad to see him. "Ah," said he, "here's Mr. Van Antwerp; now he can tell you all about the family."

"Yes," Perry said. "I've known them for years. But as to the case, I don't know a thing. I can't tell you anything, I'm hanging around on a hunch to the accident theory, as Hugh Abercrombie does."

"Too early yet for theories old man," said Carlisle decidedly. "All I want is facts."

Downing nodded. "Tell me about the husband and wife," said Carlisle.

"Well, then, Eileen was 12 years older than her husband, but so far as I know, there never was a ripple of trouble between them. I say so far as I know."

"I see. There art, or have been rumors?"

"Oh, rumors! Yes. Now about Eileen's age—I'm 40 how old are you, Ken?"

"Thirty-five. Too young you were a senior when I was a freshman."

"Yes. Yet we were good friends. Well, we'll have a chat over those things. When I was about 25 I met Eileen and fell desperately in love. She had scores of suitors and I was merely an also ran. I was a widower then and a stunning beauty. But it wasn't only her beauty, she had an allurements that can't be described in words. I was married Abercrombie and I lost sight of her for years. But well, you'll discover it anyway, so I might as well tell you I'm crazy about Maisie Eileen's daughter by her first husband. No, we're not engaged, for Maisie is an uncertain proposition. I think she's fond of me, but I suppose I do seem old to her. Yet she often promises to marry me—only to back out of it the next day. Of course I love her because she is like a youthful edition of her mother. Everyone knows I'm engaged to Maisie one day and it's broken off the next."

"Glad of your frankness, Van. Now as to the husband."

"He's one of our country's noblemen. I don't know a finer man than Hugh Abercrombie."

"Devoted to his wife?"

"Oh, devoted. But—hang it all, Ken—a man can't be in love with a woman 12 years older than he is."

"Who is the other lady?"

"Good Lord, I don't mean anything like that."

"Who is she, Downing?"

"Well, sir, they do say she's 'Sint up, Downing'—Van Antwerp looked stern. "I say Carlisle, get that, if any from anyone else, say it to me."

"He can't help getting it," murmured Downing but he didn't divulge any more.

THE CURIOUS QUIZZER

Every day he asks a question and pictures those questioned.

THE QUESTION

Want, in your opinion, is the loudest screech you, a person should make?

DAVE GELWITZ, 18 Essex st., Boston, manager.—I think that a person should have an income of at least forty dollars a week before marrying. Before the war a man could live on a salary of twenty dollars a week, but since then the cost of living has doubled. For a couple to live without depriving themselves of the comforts of life the wage earner should make at least forty dollars.

BETTY LAWRENCE, 45 Terrace drive, Salisbury Heights, Worcester.—I think a man should have an income of at least $55 a week before he should marry. They should be able to live as a couple as one person. If more of our young people considered marriage as a business, they would not be so many divorce cases in the courts.

ANNABELLE MILLEN, Oxford st., Boston.—I think that by budgeting their income and using good judgment, a couple can live on $30 a week. If they are not extravagant and practice economy, they should be able to live very comfortably on the figure. Of course it depends on what a person was used to before marriage, but I think that the average couple get married and make that amount do.

HARRY L. CHASE, JR., 410 Washington st., South Boston.—I think that a man should have an income of at least $40 a week before he should marry. A man should not marry on less than forty dollars a week. When a man marries, he should be able to support his family. If he can't, he's a failure. I think that a man should have an income of at least $40 a week before he should marry.

THE DEAD, FIVE HURT IN NEWPORT FIRE

At a meeting in Boston City Club, the executive committee of the Law Society of Massachusetts voted unanimously to consider the wisdom of advocating certain changes in the federal tax laws with a view to reducing taxes on earned income.

Edward M. Danzel, president, was empowered to appoint a committee of three to make an investigation. He appointed Frederick M. Fienman, assistant district attorney of Suffolk County; Maurice Carr, member of the special commission to investigate the rapid growth of metropolitan Boston and former assistant district attorney of Suffolk County; and Peter Glantz, an expert on taxation.

Several members of the executive committee expressed themselves in sympathy with the movement, which is being supported by many newspapers to bring about a reduction in taxes on earned income so far as the federal income tax is concerned.

In discussing the issue, Atty. Gen. said: "This subject is one of wide public importance and deserves earnest and critical study."

"It requires no very considerable argument to see the distinction between 'earned income' and 'income from investment capital.' As defined by the federal act, the term 'earned income' means wages, salaries, and professional fees, and other amounts received as compensation for personal services actually rendered."

In the case of a taxpayer engaged in a trade or business in which both personal services and capital are material income-producing factors, a reasonable allowance as compensation for the services actually rendered by the taxpayer is considered as earned income. The total amount to be treated as earned income is the value of the trade or business, in no case, less than 20 per cent of the gross profits of such trade or business."

PERSONAL EQUATION

"The source of earned income depends entirely upon the personal equation. If health, physical disability, human wear and tear, for which there is no depreciation allowed, are all basic factors. The source of income from permanent property and invested capital depends substantially on the physical structure and the economic laws governing supply and demand."

Editor of Farm Life Speaks to Ad Men

William E. Johnson of Spencer, Ind., editor of Farm Life, was guest of honor at the luncheon of the Advertising Club of Boston at the Hotel Bellevue today. Mr. Johnson pointed out the need for a "poverty-stricken peasant" and that farm problems are not as different. "The farmer is not a peasant," he said, "he is a man of different environments. He has the same desires and aspirations."

SOCIETY WOMEN SERVE COFFEE TO FIREMEN

Newport, R. I., March 5.—One man is dead, five firemen were cut by flying glass and damage estimated at $150,000 was caused by a fire of undetermined origin which swept two business blocks here and threatened the entire business section of the city.

The fire started in the Rosen Building while some 800 persons were watching a performance at the Colonial Theater next door. The flames had spread to the block end under way gradually, and the majority of the theater's patrons remained for the end of the show before making their way quickly to the street.

The Rosen Building, occupied by 1500 persons, was rapidly after the theater crowd had reached the street, and in a short time the flames had spread to the Rosen Building. On the two upper floors, the building was recently installed bowling alleys, which were ruined, together with a grocery store on the first floor. Personnel prevented the further spread of the flames, although the Petrolous Building, a three-story structure, was slightly damaged.

The dramatic fire incident is being handled by a fire department and the fire was advertised daily in the Fire News columns.

Slasher Gets Work in on the Police Department

Being an elevator operator at police headquarters, Thomas Ryan had his ups and downs, and he was in the record as the latest victim of a "subway slasher."

A second slasher victim reported to police today was Mrs. Clayton Cushman of Tenneyson st., South Boston, who was cut on the right side on a Highland avenue car, bound for Davis st., in Somerville.

When Ryan, who lives in Huntington st., East Boston, reached his work, he was home, and a six-inch slash across the shoulder of his overcoat.

The knife had cut also the left side coat and had reached the material of his shirt.

Ryan rode in the subway and slashed at Arlington st., where he was justified considerably.

DOG SAVED, BUT PET CAT LOST, IN FIRE

The rescue of "Bunny" a dog, and the unavailing search of five men for "Disaster," a black cat, were features of a fire in a house here which drove 14 persons to the street today on Massachusetts avenue.

Both "Bunny" and "Disaster" were pets of the family of James Noonan, tenant of the burned building's fourth and topmost floor.

When the Noonans and the occupants of three lower flats reached the sidewalk in safety, someone remembered the dog and cat. Ignoring the protests of firemen, Noonan climbed three flights of stairs through blinding smoke, heated "Bunny," and carried him, scorched but otherwise unharmed, down to safety.

"Disaster," the cat, was still unaccounted for. Victoria Cerrano, a roomer of the Noonans, pleaded for the cat with firemen. The latter did their best, but small hope was held out for any "Disaster's" nine lives.

Principal damage by fire was to the Noonan apartment. The loss was estimated at $1000. The third floor apartment was occupied by the LeClerc family, the second floor by Charles E. LeClerc and his roomers, and the first floor by Mr. and Mrs. George Doyle, Jr., and Doyle's nine lives.

Meat Dealer Fined for Short Weight

Belmont, Mass., March 5.—A provision company on West Newton st., South End, and an officer, he testified, of a retail meat dealers' association, was fined $10 for selling short weight. Rodger, pleaded guilty.

Doubtful as to weight and measures, Thomas A. Kelley, told the court that Rodman tried to prevent prosecution. He testified that Rodman gave him a check for $1000 of cash instead of 15 cents.

Woman Car Washer Hit by Locomotive

Mrs. Susan McMenamy, 28, a car washer for the Boston & Maine Railroad, gave him a check for $1000 of cash instead of 15 cents.

When Patrolman James Welch, clerk at the Athens st. station, South Boston, went to a house in West Third st. to serve notice that a tenant had been convicted on a liquor charge, he was invited in by the owner, a woman, who gave him a check for $1000 of cash instead of 15 cents.

common as today, in the movie world. The female cigarette was cast in the "vampire" role. But today, it might well be the hero role that flashes the cigarette case, and the motion picture public is not offended.

"There is room for argument as to the merit of the cigarette as a relief to tired nerves, but its advantage as a quick, short "smoke" for the dizzy days of fast business is not to mention the greater mental strain of modern life, cannot be denied.

"But Big Business has played its part in these changes in style. It has put on the altogether and the individual's likes and dislikes. Through the press, particularly advertising, the tobacco companies have helped materially to shape the mould of our consumer habits. There have been improvements in cigarette manufacture itself through the application of scientific processes in the curing of tobacco, the treatment of the leaves, the use of the Page after page of information as to these improvements have been replaced before the public eye, all of which has helped to further develop the cigarette.

"On the whole, the influence of the printed word has had a telling effect. Would that success crowned the efforts of other industries to do the same. It is not only in the textile, but in the food, clothing, and particularly textiles, as well. Perhaps the changing mode of fashion than Capwell is considering the textile world could find encouragement for the effort it must make to win back Dame Fashion to the customs and styles that once spelled prosperity for that industry."

GOOD LUCK

DESSERTS

GOOD TO EAT—EASY TO MAKE

Dr. Black's Daily Health Hint
CHILDREN should not be taught to drink coffee, tea or alcoholic beverages. Ice cream sodas are not exactly harmful for children, but the soda habit is bad for digestion. Milk is the best child's drink; also weak cocolos, but always water for a child when thirsty.

Martha Lee Tells of Lenten Dishes

Now that Lent is here and the immediate need in some households is for meat substitute dishes, it is well to give attention to fishes, since fish is an acceptable meat substitute as far as the protein value of the food is concerned, and should be more than acceptable for its own individual taste, as different from meat as can possibly be imagined.

Lobster is such a universal favorite that this sea food ought to have a place in lenten meal serving. Lobster is being canned now with a very rich, deep sea flavor. Lobster is a delicious main dish suggestion, and if you want to serve it for dinner you may serve it very neatly in crustades or patty shells.

LOBSTER & LA NEWBURG
 If you are serving this dish for a party or a dinner, where it is only one of many courses, it is well to leave the lobster in its large pieces as possible. If it is being served as a family dish to be used over toast or toasted crackers the lobster may be cut in small pieces. For one serving for four people use a pound can of lobster or ½ pound fresh lobster meat. Heat contents in stew pan or chaffin dish in 1 rounded cup, butter.
 Season with salt and paprika or, if preferred, red paprika. Heat well the yolk of 2 eggs, add 1 c. cream or evaporated milk, turn over the lobster and stir, not allowing the mixture to boil until thick and smooth.

Another lobster dish which is excellent for a course at a luncheon is Lobster Timbales:

LOBSTER TIMBALES
 Make 1 c. medium and white sauce and season with salt, pepper and parsley chopped. Add 2 c. lobster meat, cut up to fairly fine pieces, and cook for not more than 5 minutes. Fill the timbales with this mixture, brush with beaten egg, cover with bread crumbs and fry pieces of butter, and bake in a quick oven.

Clams are also an especial treat during the lenten season and may be used in many ways other than "steamed clams" in the summer months or "clams on the half shell" during the winter months. The next time you make an omelet evolve it into a clam omelet. To make it, beat the yolks and whites of the eggs separately, stir in a little milk with the yolks. Cut 1 c. clams into small pieces, fold in with the whites and season, and cook immediately.

Clam chowder is liked by many families, and is hearty enough so that it may be used as a main course of a meal provided a vegetable salad is added, with a dessert such as rice pudding or waffles.

NEW ENGLAND CLAM CHOWDER
 Dice ½ pound salt pork and saute with 1 medium sized onion. Add 1½ c. dried potatoes, saute a few minutes, then add ½ tsp salt, ½ tsp pepper, pinch of thyme, ¼ tsp celery seed. 2 cups chili sauce and 1 c. water. Simmer 10 minutes. Add 1 c. most tender. Add 1 c. chopped clams and 1 cup sour cream with 2 c. cold milk and stir until slightly thickened. Add ¼ c. clam liquor last so that there is no danger of its curdling the milk. Serve with plain or pilot crackers.

Understanding Mothers

Understanding mothers are prepared any hour of the day to relieve those sudden ailments which make Baby fretful. First, do what most doctors would advise—give a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. When Baby's little stomach seems sour; if his bowels are irregular; if he suffers with colic; even in the case of dangerous diarrhea, its soothing influence is indispensable. Bigger appetite, and better assimilation and elimination are most surely reward this sensible care. But depend on good old Fletcher's Castoria until your child is grown. Keep an extra bottle on hand, always ready for emergencies. Not one opiate is contained in this harmless vegetable product. Fletcher's Castoria is obtainable at every drugstore. You can know the genuine by the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on the wrapper.

Relief from Gas Stomach Pains Dizziness

The doctors tell us that 90 per cent of all sickness is due to stomach and bowel troubles. You can't get well until you get your bowels right. You are likely to get sick unless you rub and digest it properly.

Tanlac has a wonderful record as a relief from digestive troubles, even those of years' standing.

Mrs. Alexia Gass, 648 Hunt St., Worcester, Mass., writes: "My stomach bad health I couldn't work for a time. I decided to try Tanlac. Now I feel grand! My yellow skin has cleared, constipation over-comes me no longer."

If you suffer from gas, pains in the stomach or bowels, dizziness, headache, nervousness, indigestion, liver; if you have no appetite, can't eat, or feel full after eating, then you need Tanlac. Understanding mothers are prepared any hour of the day to relieve those sudden ailments which make Baby fretful. First do what most doctors would advise—give a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. When Baby's little stomach seems sour; if his bowels are irregular; if he suffers with colic; even in the case of dangerous diarrhea, its soothing influence is indispensable. Bigger appetite, and better assimilation and elimination almost surely reward this sensible care. But depend on good old Fletcher's Castoria until your child is grown up. Keep an extra bottle on hand, always ready for emergencies. Not one opiate is contained in this harmless vegetable product. Fletcher's Castoria is obtainable at every drugstore. You can know the genuine by the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on the wrapper.

'THE ABERCROMBIE MYSTERY'; NEW SIX-DAY NOVEL

small object in question.

To his disgust, a flurried glance told him it was a cigarette holder, neither new nor valuable, just a shiny black affair with two tiny bands of gold round it.

Beyond all doubt it was Percy's own, and he had retrieved it with no thought of secrecy.

Percy's deft returned it to the pocket it came from and once closely watched for any sign of knowledge, but saw none.

They were met by Eric Redmayne, who introduced himself as Abercrombie's partner.

"I hope you can get to the bottom of this thing, Corliss," he said, not pausing for answer.

"Why have you come to the conclusion that it is murder, Mr. Redmayne?" Eric asked.

"Only what is plain on the face of things."

They crossed the big, main hall, and went into the ballroom, which had been decided upon for the inquest.

Many people were assembled there. Neighbors and curiositymongers filled rows of seats. Reporters were in their places.

At the end of the room, a long table was the special province of the coroner and a smaller table was allotted to the jury.

Corliss, as chief investigator, was given a seat near Garrett, the coroner, and Van Antwerp went quickly over and sat down by Macale.

Corliss, the maid, told of finding the

her mistress dead in bed on Tuesday morning, and answered intelligently all questions about it.

Doctor Garth told of his diagnosis of death resulting from poison and how it was later confirmed by the autopsy.

"From what you have told of the lady's symptoms, what do you surmise happened?" the coroner inquired.

"I gather," Doctor Garth replied,

"that Mrs. Abercrombie swallowed a large dose of the poison on Thursday afternoon, that is, the day of the last party. I think this, because I have learned that she was in the tea house after her guest had gone, perhaps about half past six or seven o'clock."

"Who told you this?"

"The maid, Corliss."

"Let her tell the part herself."

Nothing loath, and with the air of a star witness, Corliss took up the tale and told Peter to listen.

"Macale was in the tea house

after the guests had all departed.

Peter going there to look after things, found her there. She was in great distress and told Peter to bring her home, which he did. I went to Macale's assistance and found her really ill."

"In what way?"

"She complained of a strange tightness, constriction in her throat. Also of burning heat in her stomach. There was nausea, her lips turned white and her breath came quickly and short. She passed out what she would say, which was the request that I get her quickly to her bed. I did so, for Peter helped me to take her across to the house."

"She was able to walk then?"

"Yes, with my assistance. I put her to bed, and she did not get up again that evening. But Mr. Abercrombie was a very brave lady, and she forbade me to tell any one that she was ill, but to say she was nervously tired by the excitement of the garden party."

"All of this, Doctor Garth, would be the probable result of poison as you described?"

"The inevitable result."

"Then we must assume that Mrs.

Abercrombie swallowed poison

while in her tea house?"

"I can see no other possibility. I understand she was there the whole afternoon."

"Yes, so I am told. Who was the last one known to have seen her there?"

Garrett passed, looking toward the members of the family and the others who sat near them.

No one spoke, and he put a direct question to Macale.

"You were in the tea house late in the afternoon?" he said, inquiringly.

"Oh, I was in and out a dozen times," she replied. "I was there continuously at first, receiving the guests, then I drifted away, and only stuck my nose in now and then, to see how things were going. I didn't notice mother being ill at all. She looked all right to me. She was drinking out of a large silver goblet. But whether it was ginger ale or whiskey or both

I don't know."

"Do," the coroner summed up, "I cannot be determined what Mrs.

Abercrombie was drinking. Nor does it seem to me to matter. It was beyond all doubt an innocuous drink of some sort, into which had been dropped the poison."

The other servants testified and then Abercrombie was called to the stand.

"Will you state, Mr. Abercrombie," the coroner said, after a few necessary details had been attended to, "whether you know of any fact or have any opinion that can throw any light on the sudden death of your wife?"

"I know of no facts not already brought forth in this inquiry,"

Hugh answered.

"You and your wife were on good terms, Mr. Abercrombie?"

Hugh looked thoughtful. The suddenness of the attack nearly bowed him over. Yet his words were simple.

The four principals who handle the absorbing situation are in the hands of Walter Gilbert (Phillips Voaze), Ivy Merton (Faith Marlay), Thomas McKnight (Sir John Marlay) and Don Beddoe (Douglas Helder).

Others, their favorite, in his new role, they should not overlook the particularly keen portrayal of Thomas McKnight as the famous physician who would do murder for the sake of his lovely wife.

But of course there is Mr. Gilbert, dependable as always, in the role of the noble philanderer who was so willing to save the doctor the trouble.

"Interference" is a play to delight the lover of the drama. It has an intensely interesting story, fascinating characters, and the

There are several other good roles for supporting members of the St. James company, each given with spirited understanding.
